

CANTALENGUAS

Cantalenguas is a very interesting competition where participants perform a show singing and dancing to a foreign song of their choice. At Mirador del Genil two classes will be competing this year: 2ºA and 1ºA. Our class 2ºA will be singing Coldplay's "Viva la Vida" and 1º A will be singing The Monkeys' "I'm a Believer". The music teacher Marina Picazo chose this song because it had a nice rhythm and she likes the lyrics. The English Teacher Carmen M Arcos trained the dance and pronunciation in English.

For Cantalenguas each group participating must record their performance. Each group must have a song and a dance that goes with it. The dance is normally something pretty simple because the group must sing throughout their performance which can prove difficult when trying to perform complicated routine.

Our groups have been practicing very hard and have given up their breaks and used up some lessons to practice for the competition. Many hours have been dedicated to the competition from both the teachers and students over the last month so hopefully all our hard work will pay off and we will win.

The competition will be judge and we should get the results in just over a month. Everyone has worked extremely hard for this competition and I hope that our group pulls through and gets first place as they deserve it. Good luck to everyone who has participated and I hope our school does well.
